with ELMER GILL ---piano

JOHN GRAY ---bass

MARCEL ST. LAURENT --- drums

EDDIE "LOCKJAW" DAVIS' exciting tenor saxophone has heated up the bands of everyone from Andy Kirk and Louis Armstrong to Count Basie. Eddie is the leading representative of the Coleman Hawkins/Ben Webster school of tenor saxophone. Touring with "Lockjaw" is ELMER GILL, an imaginative and lyrical improviser on both the piano and the vibraphone. Join us for an evening of solid, swinging, jazz music.

MAL WALDRON has recorded and performed with such artists as Billie Holiday, John Coltrane, Charles Mingus, Max Roach and, more recently, Steve Lacy. His most recent appearance in Edmonton was in the autumn of 1980 when he gave a magnificent solo piano concert.

DAVID FRIESEN, one of our era's most gifted musical voices, is certainly no stranger to Edmonton jazz audiences. His bass playing was heard in a variety of musical settings during this year's JAZZ CITY festival, most noteworthy being his trio featuring John Stowell.
